The single most untapped competitive advantage is teamwork.

To gain this advantage, teams must:

- ▶ Trust one another
- ▶ Engage in Conflict around ideas
- ▶ Commit to decisions
- ▶ Hold one another Accountable
- ▶ Focus on achieving collective Results

What does this program do?

The program helps teams understand how they score on the key components of The Five Behaviors model: Trust, Conflict, Commitment, Accountability, and Results. Individual team members will learn about their own personality style and the styles of their team members—based on the Everything DiSC® model—and how their style contributes to the team's overall success.

A productive, high-functioning team:

- ▶ Makes better, faster decisions
- ▶ Taps into the skills and opinions of all members
- ▶ Avoids wasting time and energy on politics, confusion and destructive conflict
- ▶ Avoids wasting time talking about the wrong issues and revisiting the same topics over and over again because of a lack of buy-in
- ▶ Creates a competitive advantage
- ▶ Is more fun to be on!

The Five Behaviors And Your Team

Remember, the behaviors can be relatively interrelated as they address issues that are interrelated. Start by identifying the most interrelated behaviors, and engaging even one of them to the success of a team. Consider the following connection:

LOW 2.0-2.4
MEDIUM 2.5-2.9
HIGH 3.0-3.5

RESULTS 2.3
ACCOUNTABILITY 2.3
COMMITMENT 2.3
CONFLICT 2.0
TRUST 3.1

Summary of Your Team's Survey Results

Your assessment score indicates that trust and commitment are likely areas of low accountability, conflict, and results are currently areas for improvement.

Building Trust

The trust and functional behavior of a behavior has been to trust. Unfortunately, the word trust often does not mean the same thing to everyone. The definition has not changed and people's behavior based on past experience is standard association, rather, in the context of trust.

• A willingness to be completely vulnerable with one another
• Confidences shared have increased that their own mistakes are good and that the protection or control around the team

Trust also is the result of a trusting, consistent team. You make how often scores on the survey change with trust because there is no quality or consistency that is more important to trust.

Team Survey Results

The following table reflects the team's responses to the trust-related questions from the right side of the survey reflecting the team's average score on the four-point scale. The basis and distribution of responses within the team.

	ALMOST NEVER	RARELY	SOMETIMES	USUALLY
Team members acknowledge their interdependence to one another	0.0	0.0	0.0	0.0
Team members actively encourage one another	0.0	0.0	0.0	0.0
Team members are engaged and give input one another	0.0	0.0	0.0	0.0
Team members are one another's best advocates	0.0	0.0	0.0	0.0

Common Distractions

What is needed to focus on results?

Teams have difficulty staying focused on results because of self-interest and self-protection. As part of the assessment, you and your team members have an opportunity to identify possible distractions from results to the success of your team. The number of people out of 10 who selected each distraction appears next to the corresponding bar chart. Note: You need the entire bar chart of the study.

Some distractions that keep us from focusing on results are:

Lack of interdependence	8 people
Lack of time and energy	8 people
Inconsistent processes and structure	8 people
Vague or shifting goals	8 people
More emphasis on personal goals than team goals	8 people
Impatience or career status or progression	1 person

Publics of Discussion

- The results of the survey indicate that a distraction for your team is "vague or shifting goals." What level of influence directly or indirectly does your team have in taking to goals?
- In the same survey, you have identified the lack of time and energy as a major distraction. Are there currently members on your team who are responsible? (Circle a number) (Circle a number)
